

Whig and Courier.

John S. Hayward, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 3, 1892.

The Election.
Yesterday the weather was dreary and rainy, the traveling muddy. There was less than the usual activity at the polls, although the active friends of each of the candidates did what they could to keep up an interest.

At the time of this writing we have no returns but shall probably receive many returns before going to press, and which will follow:

VOTE OF BANGOR.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

PHONOGRAPHIC RECORDS.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

WASHINGTON CO.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

KENNEBEC CO.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

OXFORD CO.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

YORK COUNTY.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

HALLOW CO.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

CUMBERLAND COUNTY.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

LINCOLN COUNTY.

Word	1890	1892
Word 1-167	102	22
" 2-107	87	13
" 3-177	90	37
" 4-104	113	15
" 5-138	109	14
" 6-230	132	41
" 7-80	60	10
" 8-112	69	152
" 9-128	102	208
" 10-128	102	208

NEW HAMPSHIRE, Pierce's plurality 15,000.

New Hampshire, Scott's plurality, probably 6,000.

Mass. gave 400 votes for Scott and 400 for Pierce.

Vermont, Scott.

New York, Pierce.

Pennsylvania, Pierce by 20,000 majority.

Michigan—Detroit, Pierce's majority 600.

Ohio—Toledo and Sandusky, majorities for Pierce.

Pierce carried Maryland and Delaware by large majorities.

Baltimore 4000 majority for Pierce.

New York City 8000 majority for Pierce.

Albany 1700 majority for Pierce.

Returns from 76 towns in Massachusetts, show a gain for Pierce, of nearly eleven thousand votes over Taylor's plurality of 25,000. The city of Charleston gives Pierce 600 plurality over Taylor in 1892, who had nearly 500.

It returns from the Western part of the State are decisive that it is thought that Scott will have the State by 6000.

Gen. Pierce is now in Boston, at the residence of John D. Thayer.

The returns from Vermont are favorable for a considerable plurality for Scott.

The majority for Pierce in New Hampshire is large.

Williamington, D., 200 for Pierce.

Maryland goes for Pierce largely.

Connecticut 3000 for Pierce.

Brooklyn and Williamsburgh, N. Y., Pierce majorities.

Rhode Island reported, Pierce majority 10,000 hundred.

Virginia goes for Pierce.

The Whig Defect.

The telegraph during the night, has brought the news of the defeat of the Whigs and their candidate, General Scott, by a most decisive and thorough sweep. The political world has generally regarded the country, and the monuments of Whig strength which remain, as few indeed.

As we write, the bonfires are blazing in the streets at the success of Pierce and King, and their friends are jubilant with joy.

It is true that many appear to regard it as the change is only one of the official passing from one party to the other, while the general course and tendency of the government will be the same, we should be but little moved or disturbed. But we do not so regard it. For while there are no great, practical measures of difference between the parties immediately before the country, they produce a marked change, we fully believe that the tendency of the Government will be essentially changed in its direction towards indifference regarding internal improvements—more of Free Trade and consequent disregard of the welfare of home labor; and more aggressive and meddling in its foreign policy. These tendencies are all anti-American in essence and downward and destructive.

We deem it but just to wait fairly a trial of the new Administration, but important to hold fast to the conservative influence which will be more and more demanded, and which will be by and by required by the people, and at length fully earned.

In the role which we have given it will be seen that Mr. New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, Connecticut, Rhode Island, so far as heard from have gone in favor of Gen. Pierce.

We should be glad to comfort our Whig friends of the State, but we cannot discover any very ready means of doing it. We can only advise them to be as disaffected as possible by the new Administration, and to even the taunts of their opponents.

It is a fact that the government is still in the hands of the Whigs, and their efforts, which have been made to perform for good to humanity, and that every effort will at length be crowned with success.

Mr. John has had much to say first and last, and Mr. Webster, when he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State, appointed Mr. John as one of the members of the United States.

It has been reported that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

A word as to the pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

The pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

Our telegraphic reports are in accordance with the fact that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

We learn from the publication of that report that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

We do not understand why our readers should forward us old news, nor do we see any necessity for a new suit.

Mr. Charles Drew, a very thorough and practical Phenologist, who has been for some time engaged in lecturing at the South, and giving analyses of character, has opened an office in this city. Mr. Drew proposes to teach classes in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

It is a fact that the government is still in the hands of the Whigs, and their efforts, which have been made to perform for good to humanity, and that every effort will at length be crowned with success.

Mr. John has had much to say first and last, and Mr. Webster, when he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State, appointed Mr. John as one of the members of the United States.

It has been reported that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

A word as to the pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

The pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

Our telegraphic reports are in accordance with the fact that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

We learn from the publication of that report that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

We do not understand why our readers should forward us old news, nor do we see any necessity for a new suit.

Mr. Charles Drew, a very thorough and practical Phenologist, who has been for some time engaged in lecturing at the South, and giving analyses of character, has opened an office in this city. Mr. Drew proposes to teach classes in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

It is a fact that the government is still in the hands of the Whigs, and their efforts, which have been made to perform for good to humanity, and that every effort will at length be crowned with success.

Mr. John has had much to say first and last, and Mr. Webster, when he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State, appointed Mr. John as one of the members of the United States.

It has been reported that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

A word as to the pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

The pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

Our telegraphic reports are in accordance with the fact that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

We learn from the publication of that report that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

We do not understand why our readers should forward us old news, nor do we see any necessity for a new suit.

Mr. Charles Drew, a very thorough and practical Phenologist, who has been for some time engaged in lecturing at the South, and giving analyses of character, has opened an office in this city. Mr. Drew proposes to teach classes in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

It is a fact that the government is still in the hands of the Whigs, and their efforts, which have been made to perform for good to humanity, and that every effort will at length be crowned with success.

Mr. John has had much to say first and last, and Mr. Webster, when he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State, appointed Mr. John as one of the members of the United States.

It has been reported that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

A word as to the pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

The pay which has been reported to be paid to the United States, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

Our telegraphic reports are in accordance with the fact that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

We learn from the publication of that report that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service.

Ad a matter of money-making it is not worth saying, certainly not worth buying by the slightest sacrifice. It is simply creditable to have it when it is fairly and honorably secured, and in no other way would any honorable person wish to have it. Certainly we should not.

We do not understand why our readers should forward us old news, nor do we see any necessity for a new suit.

Mr. Charles Drew, a very thorough and practical Phenologist, who has been for some time engaged in lecturing at the South, and giving analyses of character, has opened an office in this city. Mr. Drew proposes to teach classes in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology, to practice in the art of Phenology.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

Mr. Drew is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value. He is a man of great ability, and his lectures are of great interest and value.

It is a fact that the government is still in the hands of the Whigs, and their efforts, which have been made to perform for good to humanity, and that every effort will at length be crowned with success.

Mr. John has had much to say first and last, and Mr. Webster, when he entered upon the duties of Secretary of State, appointed Mr. John as one of the members of the United States.

It has been reported that the United States has been paid for that service, and that the United States has been paid for that service, and Hosiery and Cloth Dressing.

 For a large assortment at prices as low as the market, call on the undersigned at No. 12 Centre Street.
 J. H. BROWN'S
 No. 12 Centre Street.